Meet Local Authors Kathryn Smith and Kelly Durham at the Central-Clemson Friends of the Library Annual Meeting

The Central-Clemson Friends of the Library are pleased to host local co-authors, Kathryn Smith and Kelly Durham, as their featured speakers for this year's Annual Meeting on Sunday, March 25 at 4pm at the Central-Clemson Library.

All are welcome to hear Kathryn and Kelly, who have been friends since their time at Daniel High School, discuss their latest collaboration, Shirley Temple is Missing: A Missy Lehand Mystery. This is the debut book in the Missy LeHand Mystery Series, which presents Franklin Delano Roosevelt's dependable and savvy private secretary as an amateur detective. In this first novel, set in October 1935, she helps recover the child actress Shirley Temple when she is kidnapped from a train en route to San Francisco. Kirkus Reviews praised the debut as a "light, enjoyable visit to the 1930s," commenting on the "smoothly flowing story," the colorful characters and the insider details about movie-making in the Golden Age of Hollywood.

This free event is open to the public. For more information, call the library at 639-2711.
