Team Up and Clean-Up Pickens County Celebrating 150 Years

Our Sesquicentennial

Pickens County, SC - Show your home-town pride by volunteering March 23, 2018 from 8am until 12 noon as we team up & clean-up Pickens County! More than 300 Pickens County employees have signed up to lead this county-wide anti-litter campaign as we begin our 150th year-long anniversary celebrations. The Sesquicentennial kick-off is in April, but before we begin our celebrations, we're cleaning up our county.

Working with PalmettoPride, employees will lead the anti-litter campaign by hitting the streets picking up trash and debris from alongside roadways. PalmettoPride is the statewide legislative initiative created to fight litter in South Carolina. Through the foresight and vision of our state legislators, PalmettoPride was created in response to citizens' concerns regarding the amount of litter in South Carolina. In Pickens County, we have the same litter concerns and we're rolling up our sleeves to pitch in and show our pride by cleaning up Pickens County on March 23, 2018.

Safety vests will be provided and a safety video will be shared with employees and residents through our county website, social media pages, and PalmettoPride. Employees will focus clean-up efforts on heavily travelled roads and we're asking county residents to pick up trash in their communities.

The anti-litter blitz happens March 23rd, but we hope to continue the "team up and clean-up spirit" throughout our Sesquicentennial anniversary year from April 2018-April 2019 and beyond. #teamupandcleanup
